Librarian Tamika Barnes Receives Special Libraries Association Honor

The NCSU Libraries' Engineering Services Librarian Tamika Barnes recently received a 2004 Special Libraries Association (SLA) President's Award.

The association presented its 2004 President's Award to members of the SLA Executive Director Search Committee. Barnes, one of these members, was honored along with four colleagues. According to SLA, "Each of these individuals was recognized for his or her unique efforts, drive, and leadership within the committee."

The award ceremony, which included the presentation of a small trophy to each committee member, occurred at an SLA reception held on June 6, 2004, in Nashville, Tennessee. The reception was part of the SLA 2004 Annual Conference, which ran from June 5 through June 10.

The NCSU Libraries, with more than 3.1 million volumes, nearly 52,000 print and electronic serials, and hundreds of databases, offers leading-edge resources and services from its central library, the D. H. Hill Library, and four branch libraries. For full information about the NCSU Libraries, visit www.lib.ncsu.edu.
