April 25 through 27, 2002

Spring Book Sale at NCSU

The Friends of the Library of North Carolina State University will host its Spring Book Sale, from April 25 through 27, 2002, at the NCSU College of Textiles Atrium. Sale proceeds will benefit the Burlington Textiles Library Fund.

The sale will kick off with a preview event for Friends of the Library members on Thursday, April 25. Life members are invited to check out the sale from 6:00 to 7:00 P.M., and all members are welcome from 7:00 to 9:00 P.M. On Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27, the book sale will be open to the public from 9:30 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.

The Burlington Textiles Library is located in the College of Textiles complex on NC State's Centennial Campus. The library provides services to the faculty, staff, students, and NC State Centennial Campus community and university affiliates. The library's collection supports the curriculum and research programs in textile chemistry, textile materials and management, and fiber and polymer science.

The Friends of the Library, established in 1947, is an organization that fosters understanding and appreciation of the Libraries' role in promoting the academic excellence of the university. Membership dues and other gifts to the Friends of the Library help the Libraries purchase unique collections and essential equipment, enhance services and programs for patrons, and ensure the recruitment and retention of outstanding library faculty and staff.

For more information about the book sale or to join the Friends of the Library, call (919) 515-2841. For directions to the NC State University College of Textiles, visit http://www.ncsu.edu/campus_map/centennial.htm.
